

Says

Business Technology Services targets the areas that are top-of-mind for business and technology executives. We help you differentiate from the competition with customized functionality

IT management by assigning certain functions to us, make better use of your information and keep different systems working together at high performance.

Develop additional models and sizes of your current products. For example, the iPod expanded to the iPod mini and the iPod nano.

Develop totally new products. In this case, you usually leverage your brand recognition. Some good examples of this development are Gerber producing baby clothes

Does

IT CONSULTING & DEVELOPMENT

Thinks

You simply tell us what you are looking for, your expectations, and requirements – you can start by hiring 1 developer or build an entire cross-functional team, it's up to you.

To help promote a friendly environment, we organize regular team building activities.

Techpro offers several other value-added services that ensure the smooth integration of your remote development team

These services include: Launch Workshop, Security Testing, Process Consulting, Technical Consulting, IT Relocation, Quality Control.

Feels

